- Today, CEF held its second and final August research briefing, “Paying for College: What the Federal Investment Means for Students and Universities.” Thank you to everyone who attended the briefing and engaged in a productive dialogue on the role federal investment plays in increasing college affordability and access with our esteemed panelists. As a reminder, today’s panelists included:

  - Caitlin Morris, Policy and Research Director, Young Invincibles
  - Jon Fansmith, Government Relations Director, American Council on Education
  - Moderator: Stephen Payne, Assistant Director of Federal Relations, National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators
- We have attached the full PowerPoint presentations from our panelists to this email.
- Finally, for our members who were not able to attend or dial-in over the phone, we are posting a video recording of the event under the “Members Only” section of our website, and will circulate the link once it’s live.

My best,

Sheryl
